

I am a child,
You cannot conceive of the pleasure in my smile

I am born with emotion, smiling or laughing
I am born with unbridled passion that is clear in my cries and my joy

The river of human expectation flows with me and through me
Standing at the banks of a mighty waterway
I learn the past, see the present, plan and hope for the future

Peaceful, meandering, powerful, rolling and tumbling, the causeway changes everyday,
Presenting opportunity

Everyday is new with chances and challenges
Everyday is new with opportunities for success and failure
Everyday holds moments of truth that I can affect with kindness or malice

God I pray, please grant me the vision to see thru the continuous & confusing flow of life for me, every day contains the chance for beautiful new beginnings
